New Income Guidelines Mean More Families Qualify For WIC

(Clearfield, Utah) – The Davis County Health Department’s WIC Program has released new income guidelines effective July 1, 2014. These income amounts have increased from previous years’ guidelines which makes more families eligible for the program.

The W.I.C. (Women, Infants and Children) program celebrates its 40 year anniversary this year as it has benefited families for generations.

“WIC is a supplemental nutrition program offering resources at no cost to all kinds of families: married and single parents, working or not working,” said Lewis Garrett, director of the county’s health department. “Fathers, mothers, grandparents, foster parents or other legal guardians of a child under 5, can apply.”

According to Marcie Johnson, manager of the county’s WIC program, “If your family does not exceed the income for household size listed in the chart, you may qualify. In figuring family size, consider the following: A pregnant woman may count the unborn baby as a separate family member and any child under 5 on Medicaid will qualify.”

Davis County has clinics in Clearfield and Bountiful/Woods Cross to better serve clients. In Clearfield, WIC is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday-Friday, with additional hours through lunch on Wednesdays and open until 6 p.m. The Bountiful/Woods Cross clinic also is open three days a week, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., with these additional hours every other Wednesday.
